

2 minute drill

for parents

monthly tips from Positive Coaching Alliance

Honoring the Game of Life

Sports and life are interconnected in a complex way. Unfortunately, there is an escalation of rule breaking in sport and in life when someone "bends" the rules and gets away with it. Yet, our society depends on most people playing by the rules--whether or not the "officials" or "parents" are paying attention-- whether or not they are likely to be caught.

Teach your children to Honor the Game, no matter what, as this can help create and maintain the kind of society we want to live in. Teach your children to Honor the Game of life by modeling the behaviors you want to see on and off the field. It's a small but important step toward the creation of a better society for all of us.

adapted from The Double-Goal Coach by Jim Thompson

to purchase The Double-Goal Coach and other books by Jim Thompson, please visit:
<https://www.positivecoach.org/store>